Highlights

- In 2010/2011, there was 44,934 full-time teaching staff at Canadian degree granting institutions. Of these, 14,946 (33.3%) were full professors, 15,473 (34.4%) were associate professors, 10,161 (22.6%) were assistant professors, and 4,354 (9.7%) were unranked.
- Among institutions reporting in both years, the number of full teaching staff at Canadian degree granting institutions increased by 0.8% from 2009/2010 to 2010/2011
- Between 2009/2010 and 2010/2011, the number of full professors increased by 1.5%, associate professors increased by 3.3% and "rank below assistant" increased by 2.5%. The number of assistant professors decreased by 4.2% and the number in the "other" category by 1.4%.
- In 2010/2011, women accounted for over a third of full-time teaching staff, compared to just over 10% in 1970/1971.
- The average salary of full-time faculty at Canadian degree granting institutions in 2010/2011 was $115,513, 2.8% higher than the year before.
- Full-time teaching staff at Canadian universities are getting older. In 2010/2011, the median age was 50 years as compared to 37 years in 1970/1971.

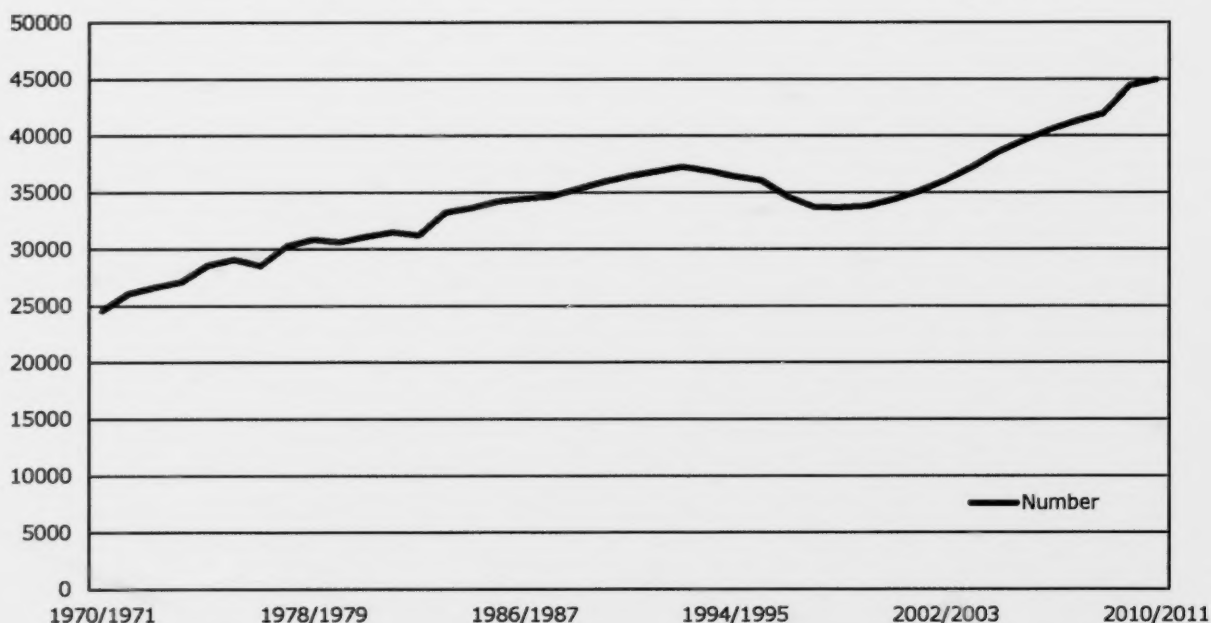

Analysis

In 2010/2011, there were 44,934 full-time teaching staff at Canadian degree granting institutions. Of these, 14,946 (33.3%) were full professors, 15,473 (34.4%) were associate professors, 10,161 (22.6%) were assistant professors, and 4,354 (9.7%) were unranked. These proportions remained almost unchanged from the 2009/2010.

In the last 40 years, full-time teaching staff has increased by 82.7%. In comparison, during the same time period (1970/1971 to 2009/2010) the number of students enrolled in Canadian universities has increased 158.3%.

Chart 1

Full-time Teaching Staff at Canadian Universities, 1970/1971 to 2010/2011

Compared to 2009/2010, the number of full-time university teaching staff in Canada increased by 1.2%. This increase is partly due to the inclusion of two universities who were new to the survey in 2010-2011. The following analysis excludes these institutions.¹

There were 116 Canadian degree granting institutions² reporting their full-time teaching staff in both 2009/2010 and 2010/2011. Among these institutions the number of staff increased by 0.8%, with 48.3% of them reporting gains, 27.6% reporting declines and 24.1% reporting no change. Increases occurred in all but two provinces, with the largest in Prince Edward Island (8.3%), British Columbia (2.0%) and Manitoba (2.0%). Decreases were reported in Alberta (-1.7%) and Saskatchewan (-.30%).

1. The following institutions were included in the FT-UCASS survey for the first time in 2010-2011: Emily Carr University of Art and Design and Capilano University in British Columbia. Formerly, these institutions were colleges but became universities (received degree granting status) in 2009-2010.

2. Information on the two new institutions will be excluded for the rest of the analysis

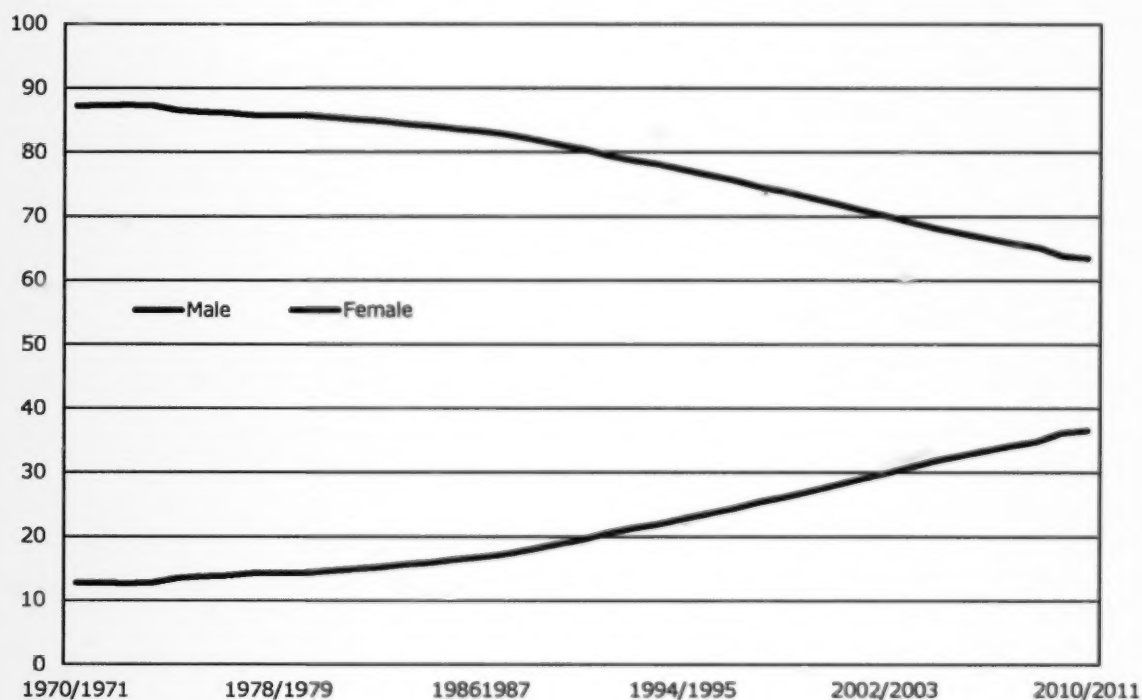

Table 1 of this report presents information for institutions that have greater than 100 staff. The information includes the following for each institution: the number of full-time teaching staff, the number of staff excluded from salary calculations, average and median salary; and salaries at the 10th and 90th percentiles. Although data are collected for institutions that have less than 100 staff and are included in the analysis they are excluded from Table 1 for reasons of confidentiality.

The increase in full-time teaching staff was not distributed evenly across either rank or sex. Between 2009/2010 and 2010/2011, the number of full professors increased by 1.5%, associate professors increased by 3.3% and "rank below assistant" increased by 2.5%. However, the number of assistant professors decreased by 4.2% as well as the "other" category by 1.4%. The increase in full-time faculty was concentrated among women, with their numbers increasing by 1.9%, whereas the number of men remained almost unchanged.

Women account for over a third of full-time faculty. Their number has risen dramatically over the past 40 years. In 1970/1971 women comprised just over 10% of faculty; by 2010, their proportion had reached 36.6% (Chart 2). The share of women grew in all ranks. In 2010/2011, women accounted for 23.4% of full professors, 38.2% of associate professors and 46.4% of assistant professors. This is in contrast to 40 years earlier, when women comprised just 3.4% of full professors, 8.1% of associate professors and 13.8% of assistant professors.

Proportion of full-time faculty, by sex, 1970/1971 to 2010/2011

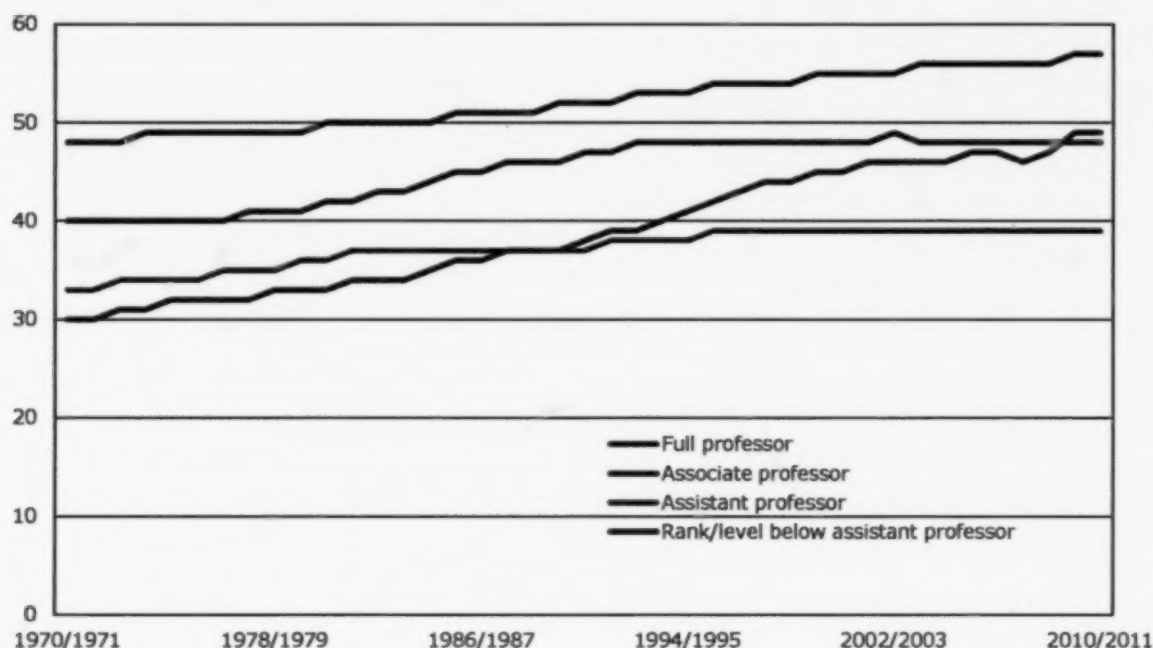

Within the ranked categories, the overwhelming majority of full-time teaching staff held a PhD in 2010/2011: 88.9% of full professors, 85.8% of associate professors, and 76.2% of assistant professors. These proportions are unchanged from 2009/2010. In the unranked categories, only 34.2% of staff held a PhD., 46.5% held a Master's degree and 9.3% had a Bachelor's degree.

Over the last 40 years, full-time teaching staff at Canadian universities have been getting older. In 2010/2011 the median age was 50 years, compared to 37 in 1970/1971. This aging trend is seen across ranks as well (Chart 3).

Median Age of Full-time Teaching Staff at Canadian Universities, 1970/1971 to 2010/2011

The average salary of full-time teaching staff was $115,513 in 2010/2011, as compared to $112,419 in 2009/2010, an increase of 2.8%. In 2010/2011, a full professor earned an average of $143,366; associate professors earned $112,175; assistant professors earned $91,035; and the average salary of those in the category "rank below assistant" was $87,461.

From a provincial perspective, the average salary ranged from $101,580 in New Brunswick to $123,907 in Alberta in 2010-2011.

Average salaries differed by sex. In 2010/2011, males earned on average $120,378, while females earned on average $106,970, or 88.9% of the average male salary. The difference between men and women is largely influenced by the larger number of males at the higher academic ranks.

The male/female salary gap narrows when within-rank comparisons between males and females are made. Among full professors in 2010/2011, full-time males earned $145,045 on average, while females earned 95.0% of that ($137,846). The average salary of female associate professors was 97.0% that of males (at $110,106 and $113,448 respectively). The average salary of female assistant professors was 97.7% that of males (at $89,886 and $92,014 respectively). In the "rank below assistant" professors, the average female salary was 96.7% that of males (at $86,065 and $89,057, respectively).

However, the overall wage gap between men and women has narrowed over time as women have come to occupy higher ranks in higher proportions. Whereas women faculty earned 78.3% of what males earned in 1970/1971, that figure has increased to 88.9% in 2010/2011.

1. Scales are not final.

2. Scales are $9,226 higher for Law, Engineering, Business and Computer Science and $15,804 for Medicine.

3. Presently negotiating increment.

4. This increment includes a progress through the ranks.

5. This is an overall faculty increment and includes the scale increases, progress through the ranks and catch-up.

6. Scales are increased by the current year's negotiated "across the board" salary increase.

7. Increments include across the board and/or progress through the ranks.

8. Increment is based on year of service multiplied by a "progress through the rank (PTR) and a "rank rate".

9. In addition to this increment, there is another equal to the consumer price index (C.P.I.).

10. This includes one step on the grid. Increments for instructors varies.

11. Varies.

12. This represents a step within the salary scale.

Explanatory Notes

Salaries of full-time teaching staff at Canadian universities and colleges

Table 1 in this publication presents, for each institution with greater than 100 staff in 2010-2011, the number of full-time teaching staff, along with their average and median salaries.

In addition, as a measure of distribution, the salary at the 10th and 90th percentile is given. In other words, the teaching staff is ranked by salary from lowest to highest and divided into ten even groups; the values presented in the table are the cutoff points for the lowest and highest 10% of the distribution.

Background

The data in this report are drawn from the University and College Academic Staff Survey (UCASS). Conducted since 1946, UCASS presents a national picture of the socio-economic characteristics of full-time university teachers in degree-granting institutions. The survey is conducted annually, with a reference date of October 1. Therefore, the data collected through this survey present a snapshot of full-time teaching staff as of that date.

Target population

The target population of this survey is full-time teaching staff in degree-granting institutions that are under contract for twelve months or more. This includes all teachers within faculties, academic staff in teaching hospitals, visiting academic staff in faculties and research staff who have an academic rank and salary similar to teaching staff. Administrative and support staff and librarians are excluded, as are staff solely engaged in research. Teaching and research assistants are also excluded.

The salary represents the reported annual rate of pay plus administrative stipends, if any, for all reported faculty members, including those on sabbatical leave

A note on confidentiality

The University and College Academic Staff Survey is conducted under the Statistics Act. To release data at the institutional level, institutions must authorize Statistics Canada to release their information. Furthermore, information is processed in such a way that results are not shown where there are too few individuals.

Due to the Statistics Act which, in part, prohibits the identification of individuals, a number of measures have been taken to ensure that no one individual or their salary can be identified or extrapolated. Information is processed in such a way that the mean is not shown when the given rank contains less than six (6) people and medians and percentiles are not calculated when there are less than 10 people.

Notes on terms used in the tables

The title Canadian Universities and Colleges refers to degree-granting institutions.

In Table 1, the column labeled Numbers refers to the number of teachers included in the salary calculations, that is, the average, the median and the 10th and 90th percentiles. Furthermore, the column labeled Excluded shows the number of teachers at the institution who are excluded from the salary calculations. This group consists of:

- Deans
- directors equivalent to deans i.e. directors who have significant administrative responsibilities
- Staff not paid according to regular salary scales
- staff on leave of absence
- visiting professors

Note that while deans and directors equivalent to deans are not counted in the salary calculations for specific ranks, they are included in the category All ranks combined, and in the breakdown of this comprehensive category by gender.

The sum of the two columns Numbers and Excluded yields the total number of full-time teachers by rank at the institution.

Full professors and associate professors are subdivided into those with and without senior administrative duties. Assistant deans, associate deans, vice-deans, directors not equivalent to deans, department heads, coordinators and chairpersons are classified as with senior administrative duties. Persons in these posts are included in the salary calculations.

The category rank below assistants refers to the next rank directly below that of an Assistant professor. Institutions use a variety of terms to label this position however, in many institutions lecturers are included here. The category rank below preceding covers the remaining full-time teachers (in many cases instructors) with the exception of Other teaching staff which refers to ungraded staff.

Salary scales for university teachers

The final table in this report presents 2010-2011 salary scales for full-time university teachers in 91 institutions. Note that the institutions included in this table are not a subset of the institutions covered in the salary tables.
